1. Regarding the relationship between JBR and ENECHANGE

Presently, ENECHANGE (hereinafter referred to as "the Company") has no business relationship with JBR.

In our Platform business, we have formed partnerships with 52 electricity/gas companies nationwide. The addition of new companies is subject to a rigorous screening process based on the Company's rigid standards. At this time, there is no evidence that any of our partner companies have withdrawn from business or filed for bankruptcy.

2. The Company's response

Although the impact of the case on its customers is unclear at this moment, in order to provide correct and appropriate information to JBR's customers and to provide alternative options to customers who intend to switch their contracts from JBR, the Company will set up the JBR Consultation Desk.

In the past, the Company has opened a service desk for customers to provide appropriate information and support when new entrants have withdrawn their business.

3. Impact on the Company's business performance

Since the Company has no business relationship with JBR, there is no direct impact on the Company's business performance. We will make timely disclosure if a material impact on the forecast is expected.
