License agreement for a diagnostic kit with Fujirebio, Inc.

Chiome Bioscience Inc. ("Chiome") and Fujirebio, Inc. ("Fujirebio") entered into a license agreement where Fujirebio will commercialize a diagnostic kit containing specific antibodies that were generated by Chiome's ADLib® system (Chiome's proprietary technology generating diversified antibodies).

The diagnostic kit is for analysis of some drug in the body. This program was conducted by Fujirebio under the license and collaborative research agreement that was originally signed as of September 30, 2010. This product is the third achievement resulted from the collaboration, the first one is the diagnostic kit for Vitamin D, and the second one is for aldosterone. Chiome will receive the pre-determined royalty based on the sales of this product.

This conclusion expects only minor impact on the financial performance in the fiscal period ending December 31, 2022.
