“GLOBAL WiFi®” has begun offering “Japan Use Option,” allowing you to stay connected even before departing Japan.

“GLOBAL WiFi®,” an overseas Wi-Fi router rental service provided by Vision Inc. (Headquarters: Shinjuku-ku, Tokyo; President, Representative Director and COO: Kenji Ota, hereinafter Vision), has begun offering a new optional service called the “Japan Use Option.”

The advertisement features the GLOBAL WiFi logo at the top left. The main text reads: "Enjoy a comfortable wait before leaving Japan with GLOBAL WiFi!" followed by "Japan Use Option" in large red letters. Below this, three data capacity options are listed: 500MB (550 yen tax included), 1GB (880 yen tax included), and 3GB (1,650 yen tax included). On the right, a woman is shown holding a smartphone with a Wi-Fi signal icon. A circular badge on the bottom right says: "You can also test your Wi-Fi connection in advance" with a small Japanese flag icon.

This option is a service that allows you to use “GLOBAL WiFi®” within Japan even before traveling overseas. It was developed in response to customer requests for Wi-Fi access during airport waiting times and while on the move. Furthermore, you can test your Wi-Fi connection before leaving Japan, giving you peace of mind when using the service.

You can choose from 3GB, 1GB, or 500MB of data capacity, and any unused data before departing for Japan can be used during your trip abroad or after returning to Japan (until you return the Wi-Fi device).

We will continue to strive and improve our services and quality to provide our customers with a comfortable and reliable communication environment through “GLOBAL WiFi®.”
