■ About ParallelPlastics

ParallelPlastics is a new energy-saving and cost-saving recycling service. This product is made into beautiful materials by mixing plastic with different colors and composition, such as products that are out of stock and no longer sell and waste plastic generated in the manufacturing process.

In general material recycling*1, collected plastics are sorted and cleaned, and once returned to pellets, a plastic raw material. Then, by adding virgin material, strength is supplemented and reused.

On the other hand, ParallelPlastics eliminates the process of pelletizing and adds no virgin material. We recycle into products with beautiful designs such as natural stones in a simple way that merely melt and mix plastic with different composition. Since the recycled plastic purity is 100%, the feature is that it not only reduces costs and energy, but can also be recycled more easily than the conventional method.
